ED BURNS MANUFACTURING COTTON BLOWER ATTACHMENT FOR COMMERCIAL MARKETS

Ed. Burns, Porterville rancher, is now putting his patented invention — a cotton blowing attachment for the International cotton picker — into commercial production, with manufacturing facilities being set up at the D. B. Bryant Welding company shop on West Olive street.

By use of the Burns invention, cotton is taken from the spindle of a mechanical picker by air suction onto a screen, from where it is blown into the hopper, with dirt and leaves extracted from the cotton in the process.

The equipment also feeds air, heated by the picker motor, onto the cotton, which sets up a drying action, making it possible to pick under extreme moisture conditions.

The "beating action" that cotton goes through on the conventional mechanical picker, is eliminated by the Burns Blower, consequently grade is not lost through mechanical picking when the blower is used, cotton going

SUCCESSFUL FAIR REPORT BY DIRECTORS

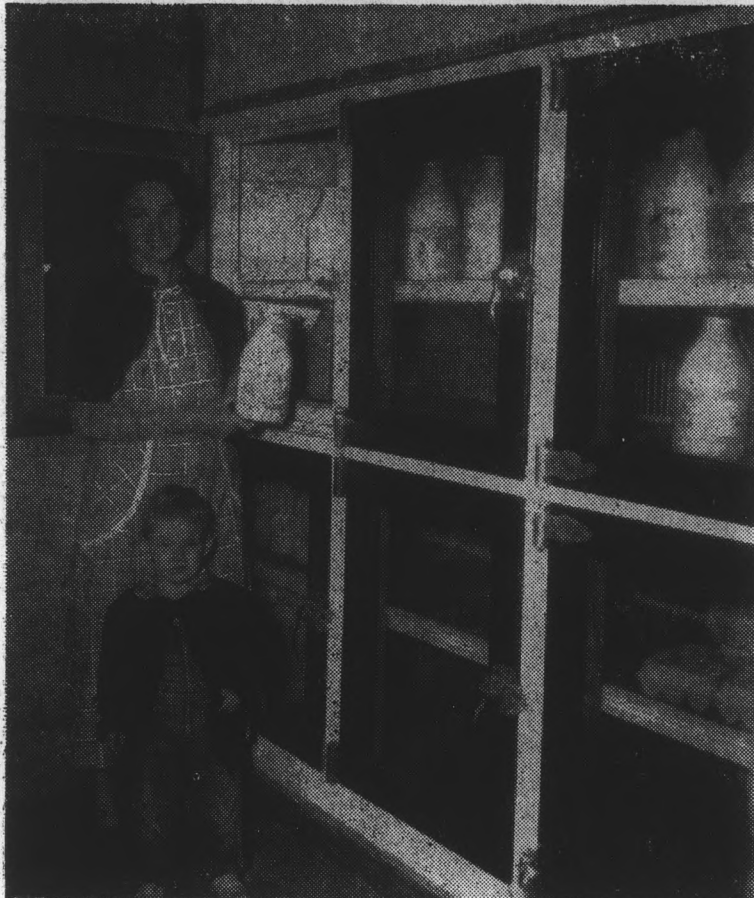

Record-breaking figures in practically all categories of the 1956 Porterville fair were reported by directors at a meeting of the fair board held Monday evening at Gang Sue's in Porterville.

Attendance figures were highest in history, it was reported; concessions, on an average, did better than in any other year; fat stock sale was the "hottest" in history of the fair compared to market, and sale of exhibit space and program advertising hit a new high.

Preliminary estimate of income to the fair indicated that directors will be able to take care of all bills and pay off a $2,000 balance on a note against the fair.

FRESHER, RICHER milk is the aim of Milton O. France, who has established a "cash and carry" milk outlet on his ranch southwest of Porterville, where price per gallon is considerably lower than retail prices in local stores. Mr. France is working on the principle of a retail outlet at the point of production — his dairy farm. In upper photo, Mr. France is shown in the clean, modern processing room on his ranch, with pasteurizing unit at the left, cooling coils in the center and homogenizing equipment at the right. In the photo, Mr. France is checking the mechanical device that makes a permanent record of temperature maintained during the 30 minutes required to pasteurize milk. In left photo, Mrs. France is shown at the refrigeration unit where milk is stored for sale to customers. Assisting Mrs. France is son, John France, who was right on hand when he saw that a picture was to be taken. Raw milk, pasteurized milk and homogenized milk are available at the France dairy farm, which is located on the "Airport road", just off Poplar road, west of the new Highway 65. (Farm Tribune photos)

M. O. France Establishes "Cash And Carry" Milk Outlet At His Dairy Ranch On Airport Road off Poplar Highway

Another rancher who is seeking to supply the retail market from a ranch outlet is Milton O. France, Porterville dairyman, who has established a "cash and carry" milk depot at his ranch southwest of Porterville on the Airport road just south of Poplar highway.

Mr. France, who milks 35 head of Holsteins, has set up a processing plant where he pasteurizes and homogenizes his own milk, plus a refrigeration unit to store bottled milk for the retail trade. Price of 70 cents per gallon for raw, pasteurized, or homogenized milk is considerably below retail market price.

Advantages claimed by Mr. France for his ranch milk is that it is "fresher, richer and cheaper"; all milk that he sells is Grade A, he states.

In the clean processing room, milk, during the pasteurizing process, is held at a temperature of 143 degrees, or more, for a period of 30 minutes, with a permanent record kept by mechanical means on each milk unit run through the pasteurizer.

Following the pasteurizing process, milk is put through the homogenizer, then quickly cooled to 40 degrees, after which it is bottled and placed in a refrigeration unit for the retail trade.

At the present time, only a small portion of the milk produced on the France ranch goes into this retail outlet, however, Mr. France states that his "ranch customers" are increasing as more people learn of the quality of his product and the savings in price.

Bottles used must be sterilized — this is done on the ranch — and milk must be delivered in ranch bottles, not containers brought by customers, in order to comply with state health laws.

Singing Convention Set For Sunday

Tulare County Singing Convention will be held next Sunday afternoon, starting at 2:00 o'clock, in the Assembly of God church on east Olive street in Porterville.

J. E. Wheeler, president of the convention, states that quartets and specials will be featured. The public is invited to attend.

PROBLEMS OF HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WILL BE DISCUSSED AT PUBLIC MEETING

Discussion of problems relating to physical facilities at Porterville high school and college is slated for next Tuesday evening, June 12, when a public meeting will be held in the Porterville city hall courtroom, at 7:30 o'clock.

Bob Board, chairman of a citizen's committee that actively worked for passage of the recent $1,750,000 bond issue that was defeated by the voters, states, "It is hoped that all persons who wish to contribute to the thinking of the group will attend the meeting and participate in the discussion."

"It is earnestly desired that people who were in opposition to the passage of the latest bond issue will attend and help come up with a program that can be recommended to school trustees, and that will be satisfactory to voters of the district."

ommended to school trustees, and that will be satisfactory to voters of the district."

Five points will be given special attention: 1. Preliminary findings of a committee of local building contractors who are studying the feasibility of the school's master plan;

2. Possibility of revision of the master plan;

3. Possibility of placing before the voters a special tax to finance a building program for the district;

4. Advisability of another bond issue for presentation to voters of the district;

5. Ways and means of determining what issues led voters to turn down the proposed school bonds.

Power Tops Popular Assembly Vote; Moore Wins First District Supervisor

Domer F. Power, Lindsay rancher, topped the popular vote in 35th assembly district primary election, Tuesday, and Rodgers L. Moore easily won reelection to the board of supervisors from the 1st supervisorial district.

Although Myron Tisdell won the Republican nomination for 14th district congressman, Incumbent Harlan Hagen, Democrat, polled a near 2-1 popular vote over Tisdell.

In the assembly race, which developed into a real battle, Power, a Republican, polled 16,441 total Democrat and Republican votes; Myron Frew, Dinuba Democrat, polled 14,938 total votes and Howard Chittenden, Democrat of Porterville, had a total of 8,963 votes.

By virtue of winning their party nominations by good majorities, Power and Frew will oppose each other for the 35th district assembly seat in the November general election.

In the special assembly election to fill the seat of the late Roscoe Patterson, Frew led Power by 36 votes on a basis of unofficial returns from all precincts in Tulare and Kings counties. In Tulare county, however, 471 absentee ballots remain to be counted, and something over 100 in Kings county.

Absentee voters have 16 days after election day to get their bal-

BANKS SPEAKER AT BANQUET

Harvey O. Banks, director of the new California Water department, will be the speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Tulare county chamber of commerce to be held in Giant Forest, Friday evening. Thomas J. Allen, new superintendent of Sequoia and Kings Canyon national parks, will be introduced; Mable Haile, of Porterville, will sing.

VOTE ON WHEAT QUOTAS SET JULY 20; HEAVY CARRYOVER REPORTED BY BENSON

July 20 has been set by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson as date for a referendum when wheat growers who are affected by quotas will vote on whether or not to put quotas into operation; a two-thirds favorable vote is necessary.

Growers affected by the quotas, and who are thereby eligible to vote, include those farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1957.

In his proclamation declaring marketing quotas for the 1957 wheat crop, Secretary Benson said, "This marks the fourth successive year that abnormally large wheat supplies have required the proclamation of marketing quotas for the next wheat crop. It is the third successive year for which the national acreage allotment has had to be set at 55 million acres, the minimum specified by law."

"All the wheat we are likely to need from 1957 production, determined according to the formula in the legislation, could be produced on an acreage of about 12.4 million acres. If it were not for the legal 'minimum', the national allotment could have dropped to that level.

"The plain fact is that, in spite of valiant attempts to channel more wheat into exports, we still have enough wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1956, to take care of all our domestic and export needs for more than two full years. The carryover, again, will exceed a billion bushels. . . . While we are hopeful about holding down the carryover into 1957-58, wheat continues as one of the most serious problems in the whole farm economy" lots into the hands of the county clerk, consequently, it will be June 22 or 23 before outcome of the special assembly election will be known.

In the special election unofficial count in Tulare county, Power had 13,723 votes; Frew, 11,974 and Chittenden 6,090. In Kings county, Frew, 3,194; Power, 2,579 and Chittenden, 2,639.

In the regular primary, Republicans gave Power 10,405 votes in Tulare county and 2,180 in Kings county for a total of 12,585. Frew received 1,912 votes in Tulare county and 588 in Kings county for a total of 2,470. Chittenden received 1,046 in Tulare county and 285 in Kings county for a total of 1,331.

On the Democratic ticket, Frew received 8,927 in Tulare county and 3,534 in Kings county for a total of 12,461 votes; Power received 3,323 votes in Tulare county and 533 in Kings county for a total of 3,856; Chittenden received 5,188 votes in Tulare county and 2,444 in Kings county for a total of 7,632.

In the supervisorial race, Moore beat Everett Vaughn, 4,868 to 2,393, by unofficial count. In the second district Carl D. Miller, with 2,719 votes will run off in November with Incumbent Harry Perry, who polled 2,209 votes in a three-man race, while in the third district, Incumbent Halver Haddock, with 3,220 votes, will meet Rufus Connelly, who polled 2,012 votes in a six-man race.

In the congressional race, Tisdell polled 8,273 votes on the Republican ticket in Tulare county to Hagen's 3,833, but on the Democrat ballot, Hagen had 14,201 to Tisdell's 2,436.

In Kings county, Hagen had 2,078 Republican votes to Tisdell's 1,102; on the Democratic ticket Hagen had 6,614 votes to Tisdell's 299.

In Kern county, Tisdell received 11,233 Republican votes to Hagen's 7,492, while Hagen got 30,277 Democrat votes to Tisdell's 4,311.

Figures in the congressional race are on a basis of incomplete returns; as of this morning, popular vote in the 14th congressional district showed Hagen with 92,552 and Tisdell with 52,517.

For United States Senator, Incumbent Thomas H. Kuchel easily won the Republican nomination while Richard Richards beat Sam Yorty badly on the Democratic ticket to put Richards against Kuchel in the November general election.

In the California Democratic presidential primary, Adlai Stevenson won 2-1 over Estes Kefauver, although Kefauver carried Tulare county. President Dwight D. Eisenhower was unopposed on the Republican ballot.

Rumor has reached us that some Scotchmen have been using milk cartons to start their barbecue fire. Now just because cartons are cheap, easy to use, fast to light, and in general work well, is no reason for abandoning the charcoal lighter we sell for 39c a can. After all, you may run out of gasoline, lighter fluid or beer and need something volatile in a hurry. This is a first class emergency ration.

Should you have ample milk cartons and no charcoal you should try our Springfield grown, chunk style, mountain oak charcoal. This is guaranteed to make anything tender, including the cook. It is two and a quarter for thirty pounds and with every thirty pounds we furnish a paper bag to carry it home.

Along the same line you may purchase mosquito and fly spray to discourage the pests, sprinkling cans to put out the fire, pruning saws to cut the steak, and flowers to pretty up the place... A few thick shrubs make an excellent place to throw the bones.

Come to think of it, if you're in need of a barbecue cook book you might gander at the Sunset Barbecue Book. This fine dissertation on delicious dinners explains how to cook boolekoki, perro con queso, slumgullion, and chili fandango to mention a few. Take perro con queso for instance — sounds complicated but it's really a hot dog stuffed with cheese. A mighty fine dish. There are further hints on how to roast most anything, except hypothetical clerk a la rogers, this may be had by writing The Farm Tribune, Porterville. Happy cooking!

THE MYSTERY OF THE MYSTERY FARM IS SOLVED

The mystery of the May 24 Mystery Farm has been solved.

The ranch shown belongs to Harold McTier; it is located southwest of Terra Bella.

Principal crop on the ranch is olives; in addition the McTiers have some orange acreage and farm some grain land. They also raise poultry, and from the livestock angle, Black Angus cattle, making the total operation a well-diversified farming deal.

Last week's Mystery Farm showed the home place of John Kochever, who operates as Kochever Brothers — John and Albert — south of Rockford school.

In this operation are about 500 acres, devoted to cotton, alfalfa and Thompson grapes.

The enlarged photo of the McTier ranch is waiting at Haener's Jewelers in Porterville; the photo for the Kochever Brothers is at Quality Cleaners, last week's Mystery Farm series featured advertiser. Of course there is no charge for the enlarged Mystery Farm photo — owner of the farm shown merely picks it up at the business firm featured in the week's ad.

Now, how about this week's Mystery Farm. If it belongs to you, stop by Weisenberger Farm Supply, on West Olive street, Porterville, and your 11x14 enlargement will be waiting for you.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

MANY REASONS are kicking around as to why the Porterville high school and college school bonds were defeated, recently, for the third time. In looking back on this last election, it is evident that the real issue — the voting of bonds — became lost in a maze of personal actions, criticism of the school administration, partisan politics, and general confusion.

FROM WHERE we sit, it would appear that reasons for voting against the bonds can be generalized into one basic reason, lack of confidence in the school administration.

THIS IS unfortunate, for many of the statements being made, indicating this lack of confidence, are not true statements. But the fact remains that in the minds of some people there is doubt.

BECAUSE OF this we suggest that no hasty effort be made toward a fourth bond vote.

BEFORE ANY other plan of school financing — bonds or tax — is presented to the people of the district, certain things must be done.

1. A STRONG, independent citizen's committee, composed of long-time residents of the community and of persons who pay substantial taxes, must, on their own, dig into the entire school problem.

2. RESPECTED CITIZENS of the community who are qualified to judge the merits of a building program must take it upon themselves to carefully check architect plans and priority of construction; they must then be willing to state their views publicly.

3. FROM THESE two groups must come a logical plan, endorsed strongly by people of the community whose judgment is respected.

4. AN EDUCATIONAL type of campaign must then be undertaken to inform people of the district of the need, the problems and the plan.

BASIC REASON for this type of program is to restore confidence in the school administration. Until confidence is restored, there is no need to think about another bond issue.

HOWEVER, PEOPLE of this community cannot refuse to meet the problems of physical facilities that confront the high school and college, for the problems are there — real problems. And those problems only increase in magnitude as their solution is postponed.

AND WE might suggest further that those persons who opposed the recent bond issue, but who admit in private conversation that "something must eventually be done", take the lead in seeing that this something is done.

BICKERING OVER personalities, rehashing of past actions that cannot now be altered, repeating of half-truths will only add to the confusion. It is high time that people of this community face up to the situation as it now exists, then work out a solution.

California Republican Assembly will meet in Santa Barbara June 15, 16 and 17.

WATER SAFETY

By Myron Wilcox

Wherever there is water, and people are swimming, there will come a time when someone will need help in one form or another. Even though you cannot swim you can help in an emergency, if you will take a look around the edge of the swimming area before something does happen and make sure there is some floating object around in case a person needs help.

The best form of water rescue is to see a swimmer before he gets into trouble and either warn him then, or make sure he does not get into any deeper water.

If you are a weak swimmer, never attempt a swimming rescue. You must be a strong swimmer and a skilled one before attempting a swimming rescue. If in open water, other than a small pool, carry something to the drowning person to keep him afloat until help comes. If you help in this way you may save two lives: yours and the drowning person's.

into the hopper as clean, fluffy lint.

Mr. Burns estimates, on the basis of field work with the blower, that from $10.00 to $25.00 is added per bale, compared to the usual machine picked cotton.

Mr. Burns has been working on his invention for several years; (The Farm Tribune carried a story on an early Burns Blower about two years ago.)

One of the "bugs" in the first Blower — the clogging of the screen that receives the cotton from the spindles — has been eliminated through redesigning of the screen, Mr. Burns states.

Last season, seven units were used throughout the district on an experimental basis; results, it is stated, were highly satisfactory.

A number of the units are now on order for the fall picking season, Mr. Burns states. Present facilities will allow production of about five units daily.

MONEY NEEDED!

Persons with pledges for financing community share of the Rockwell plant that will be constructed north of town are requested to send in their money without delay, according to Harry J. Johnson, president of the Porterville Civic Development Foundation. Checks can be mailed to Mr. Johnson's office or the Porterville chamber of commerce. As of yesterday, about $190,000 of pledged money had been collected, leaving an excess of $80,000 to come in. The project cannot start until pledges are paid.

ROTARY OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP IN GREAT BRITAIN

A trip to Europe and an opportunity to study abroad for one school year awaits some lucky college age student of the Porterville area. The Porterville Rotary Club announces this scholarship trip as a continuation of their international relations work.

Preliminary arrangements have been completed with a Rotary Club in England to receive a Porterville area youth during a full school year's study in Great Britain. With this progress being made, the Porterville Rotary Club announces that it is ready to receive applications for its international exchange scholarship. It is proposed to send an outstanding college age student to live and study in Great Britain under the proposed joint sponsorship of the Porterville Rotary Club and a club in England. The local club will send the student selected by boat to Europe in August of this year.

It is the desire of the Porterville Rotary Club to further international goodwill and understanding in setting up this visit by a Porterville youth.

The selection will be based on scholarship, leadership, personality, speaking ability and citizenship. The student chosen will be selected by a special committee.

The parents of the youth selected will be encouraged to provide a health insurance policy and will be asked to assume full health and accident responsibility. Also, the parents, if financially able, may be asked to assist in some incidental expenses.

Applicants may receive application blanks from Porterville high school or college offices.

RED CROSS SWIMMING WEEK STARTS JUNE 25

Annual Red Cross Swimming week will be conducted in Porterville, at the municipal pool, from June 25 through July 7, with classes in junior and senior life saving, intermediate and advance swimmers and beginning swimming for children and adults. Persons may sign up at the Porterville Red Cross office.

Jim McDaniel will instruct senior life saving; Mrs. Bill Scruggs, beginners, and Myron Wilcox, junior life saving and swimmers.

Farm employment in the San Joaquin valley continued its upward swing last week, with 107,000 workers employed, compared to 104,000 the previous week.
